MANAGER COMMENT

During the month the optimism over COVID-19 vaccinations overshadowed fears that a stronger-than-expected economic rebound could change the monetary policy trajectory. February was, however, another reminder of how swiftly things can change in financial markets, and the scale and velocity of the rise in bond yields were painful for many market participants. A combination of factors, including inflation worries, contributed to a sharp and sudden steepening of the yield curve in February, and we saw bond markets sell off sharply. Economic activity picked up in all major economies in February, though in most cases it remained short of end-2020 levels. During the month we saw investors shift their focus from the US Presidential Election and the social media trading frenzy, back to market fundamentals. Attention was centered on three key inputs, namely corporate earnings, economic data, and interest rates, all three of which influence longer-term stock valuations.

In South Africa, Finance Minister Tito Mboweni, delivered the 2021/2022 National Budget during February, setting an overall optimistic tone. Stronger than expected revenues and a commitment to aggressively cut expenditure over the medium term enabled South Africa to announce decidedly better fiscal projections in its annual budget. A currently strong mining industry and a faster-than-expected recovery in spending led to corporate tax and VAT collections surpassing expectations by R100 billion. Minister Mboweni was therefore able to avoid raising taxes to pay for the COVID-19 vaccine programmes.

During the month the MSCI World bounced back from a rather slow start to the year, mainly led by cyclical stocks, returning 3.09% in rand terms and 2.45% in US dollar, for the month. Developed market equity markets managed to recover and closed the month on a positive note as the policy fears started to ease. Constraints on the supply of Covid-19 vaccines have meant that the roll-out has been much slower in emerging markets relative to developed markets. The Emerging Markets index posted relatively smaller gains over the month, closing at 1.36% in rand terms and 0.73% in US dollar. During the month traditionally defensive sectors, such as utilities and consumer staples, lagged, while sectors that are most sensitive to the economic cycle (such as energy, financials, and industrials) managed to performed well.

Local stocks produced a fourth consecutive positive monthly return, with the ALSI returning 5.87% for the February. On a sector basis, resources delivered a solid return of 11.73% for the month, outpacing financials and industrials, which closed the month at 4.37% and 1.99% respectively. Listed property rose by 8.6% m/m, having matched the local equity market's 40% rally over the past four months. SA bonds (ALBI) were rather flat for the month at 0.06% and cash (STeFI) returned 0.28%. The rand weakened by 0.62% against the US dollar, 0.53% versus the euro and was down a substantial 2.39% against the sterling.
